

Claims

1. A treating method for hair growth inhibition, which comprises administering a plant of the family Juniperus or a malt.

2. A treating method according to claim 1, which is applied to the region of a skin necessary for hair growth inhibition.

3. A dermatologic composition for external use, which comprises (A) the extract of a plant of the family Juniperus or a malt, (B) an elastase inhibitor or neutral endopeptidase inhibitor

4. A composition according to claim 3, further comprising (C) at least one proteolytic enzyme selected from the group consisting of papain, trypsin, chymotrypsin, pepsin, bromelain, ficin and pancreatin.

5. A dermatologic composition for external use, which comprises (B) an elastase inhibitor or neutral endopeptidase inhibitor and (C) at least one proteolytic enzyme selected from the group consisting of papain, trypsin, chymotrypsin, pepsin, bromelain, ficin and pancreatin.

6. A treating method for hair growth inhibition, which comprises applying a composition as claimed in any one of claims 3 to 5 to the region of a skin necessary for hair growth inhibition.